Tania Archer provides practical compliance counsel and formulates sound legislative and public policy strategies to advance client priorities. She navigates clients through the regulatory and legislative processes that drive highly regulated industries, such as energy, environmental, manufacturing, healthcare and technology services. Ms. Archer advises on corporate and executive political giving, including solicitation and expenditure prohibitions. She is also positioned to service clients on Democratic National Convention-related needs that may arise in advance of the 2012 Convention.

Ms. Archer's legal experience includes bilingual outreach and advocacy to Hispanic populations, family law representation and real estate transactions.
