

NEWS

MVA advises George Sink, P.A. Injury Lawyers

Media

South Carolina Lawyers Weekly

12.2019

A trademark lawsuit involving MVA's client George Sink, P.A. Injury Lawyers, the well-known personal injury law firm founded by George Sink, Sr., was recently covered by South Carolina Lawyers Weekly. The article discusses how MVA attorneys were successful in securing injunctive relief from the federal court in Charleston, SC against George Sink, Sr.'s son, George Sink, Jr. George Sink, P.A. Injury Lawyers is represented by Charleston Corporate Member Trudy Robertson, and Charlotte Intellectual Property Members Mark Wilson and Kate Cole.

The article

The son of a prominent Lowcountry attorney has been enjoined from using his own name to advertise his legal services. A federal judge ordered George Sink Jr. to refrain from using his name to promote his law firm while a dispute with his father, George Sink Sr., plays out in arbitration.

The complete article can be viewed here.