

SWAPS, DERIVATIVES & STRUCTURED PRODUCTS

Our attorneys bring extensive experience representing clients with respect to a wide array of OTC derivative and exchange traded transactions. We pride ourselves on providing commercial counsel that will add value and mitigate risks.

Our Derivatives practice assists clients with respect to a variety of OTC and cleared derivative and exchange traded transactions, including transactional, regulatory and investigation/compliance matters. Our attorneys advise a wide spectrum of U.S. and non-U.S. market participants, including swap dealers, clearing houses, futures commission merchants, sovereign entities, pensions, hedge funds, commodity pools, financial institutions, trade groups and corporate end-users across multiple industries.

On the transactional side, we represent some of the largest swap dealers and non-dealer liquidity providers in the world, including clearing houses, funds and institutions focused on Bitcoin, Ether and other digital assets. Our practice is supported by our broader financial services group of over 100 attorneys. We advise clients regarding use and treatment of derivative products in various single-lender and syndicated credit facilities, and asset securitizations. We also help clients, including registered and non-registered entities, design and review their internal compliance programs.
