Christine Carr York represents financial institutions, including commercial banks and Farm Credit System banks and associations. She uses a teamwork focused approach to find creative solutions to both common and novel problems that arise in the negotiation and documentation of single-lender, club and syndicated credit facilities.

As an associate in Moore & Van Allen's Financial Services group, Christine represents financial institutions in structuring and documenting secured and unsecured lending transactions. She has experience in acquisition financing, real estate financing, asset-based lending and financing for government contractors. She has successfully negotiated and documented credit facilities with borrowers with industry-specific considerations, including alcohol distributors, transportation and distribution companies, merchandisers, defense contractors and various agricultural businesses.

Christine is teamwork oriented with an ability to anticipate and address client needs and borrower requests in a timely fashion.
