MVA Member Charles Jordan serves on the Charleston Regional Development Alliance (CRDA) Board of Directors and its Leadership Development Committee. CRDA assists businesses that are located elsewhere around the country and outside of the United States to relocate or expand their operations into the Charleston region and also provides resources for local businesses to expand their operations. In short, CRDA serves the greater Charleston region by helping to convene and collaborate with the most influential business, government and academic leaders in this community in an effort “to attract the world’s best companies and talent”.
