MVA Charlotte attorney and award-winning ESPN sportscaster Jay Bilas was featured in the February issue of Business North Carolina, in the article "Keeping the score under 140." The profile piece covers everything from Bilas' love of hip-hop, his Twitter feed and his high school television debut, to his basketball career at Duke, move to Moore & Van Allen, and steps that led him to ESPN fame.

"...ESPN needed a last-minute fill-in for its TV broadcast of a Big South Conference Tournament game between UNC Greensboro and Charleston Southern University. 'I thought, 'This guy, we can work with him. He can improve. He can get where he needs to be,' says Dave Miller, who recruited Bilas to the network."
