Henry Ward Recognized Among "The World's Leading Patent & Technology Licensing Lawyers" in IAM Licensing 250

09.22.2010

MVA Intellectual Property attorney Henry Ward was recently selected by Intellectual Asset Management, a leading intellectual property magazine, for inclusion in IAM Licensing 250: The World's Leading Patent & Technology Licensing Lawyers. The list is comprised of patent and technology licensing attorneys in 20 major jurisdictions across the globe selected through an extensive research process.

Mr. Ward is the only Intellectual Property attorney in Charlotte on the list and is noted in the publication for his "busy patent licensing practice, frequently working with clients in the healthcare, telecommunications and financial services industries."

Intellectual Asset Management's team of researchers conducted months of telephone interviews and other research to select attorneys for inclusion on the list.
