Charleston Bankruptcy Member Cynthia Lowery was named to the 2014-2015 Wake Forest Law School Board of Visitors. Lowery ('88) and her fellow Board members will assist the Dean, the faculty, and students of the School of Law, in strengthening the school's total educational enterprise. This includes leadership and guidance related to career services, admissions, curriculum, clinics, fundraising, and strategic plans for the law school's future.

The Board helps formulate and carry out the law school's plans for capital development. Board members are also responsible for providing advice and assistance to the Board of Trustees and the officers of the School and University.
