Moore & Van Allen's Charleston office has launched a website that highlights and provides details on their March 2013 move into the Kress Building, one of the City of Charleston's most recognizable and historic structures. Viewers can find information on the Kress Building itself, the office's history, attorneys and staff, directions, and photos documenting the progress of the move and interior renovations currently underway.

The office plans to be fully moved into the highly-anticipated new space, located at 78 Wentworth Street, on March 18.
